

The Lonely Jellyfish

Once upon a time, at the bottom of the ocean, deeper than anyone's been before, lived a wild boxing jellyfish. He needed more than loneliness and darkness, he needed some friends but no one ever dared to enter the murky ship wreck because they knew they'd get punched black and blue. One day, the jellyfish had, had enough so he set off to find some friends but as he'd never left the shipwreck before he got lost!

Suddenly, there was a flash of light and a unicorn appeared to help him.

"How are you? I can see you're sad, what can I do to help you?" she said in a gentle and kind way.

By 3RW

"I'm not ok. I can't find any friends and I'm lost," replied the Jellyfish, sadly.

Tears began to fill the Jellyfish's eyes.

"Well, I know a place where there are friends all around."

"How do I know you're not trying to prank me?" said the Jellyfish confidently. "I've got these and I'm not afraid to use them," he threatened holding up six of his eight boxing gloves.

"I'm not mean. Please trust me" whispered the unicorn.

The jellyfish decided to trust the unicorn and they started their mystical journey and began to sail the Seven Seas. Although their journey started easily, they found themselves approaching the deadly Ring of Fire!

It wouldn't have been so bad however the deadliest volcano of them all was erupting, today. The bright, orange lava had already begun to gush out of the jagged, immense vent...

By 4H

The hot lava bubbled ferociously down the side of the steep volcano and into the sea. The ocean turned red then black and crashed against the rock. The jellyfish quickly punched the lava out of the way but his poor tentacles were burnt. The two friends began to think there would be no way out and they were trapped forever.

The jellyfish began to shake and tremble, "Can't you do something to save us?" He cried. Suddenly, a fantastic idea came to the unicorn. Quickly, she flew up into the air and used her magic to freeze the hot bubbling waves to solid ice. After that, she swooped back down, picked up the frightened and dizzy jellyfish and carried him on her back. Their journey continued once more. Where would they land and would they ever find any friends?

By 4GP

When the unicorn found a space under the coral, they spotted someone else who was lonely as well. It was a colourful mermaid. She hopped on the unicorn's back and they swam away.

They went to the volcano but the big bad shark was blocking it. There was also an enormous sea rhino and he started to charge towards them. As the sea rhino chased them towards an ancient ship, they caught sight of lots of colourful creatures.

Unexpectedly, they discovered an underwater car which smelled of fish. When they swam down to the rusty car, they realised it was next to the underwater city. They spotted some fish about to get eaten by the evil sea rhino. So they let all the fish into the fish-mobile and then drove away!

They all drove to the city and got an underwater apartment together. They all lived happily ever after! The jellyfish made lots of friends and was never lonely again. Finally, the sea rhino came to apologise and he joined their group of friends too!

By 3C