New National Lockdown – Remote Learning

Dear Parents and Carers,

As announced earlier by the Prime Minister, all schools in England will close from tomorrow, to most pupils, as part of a new national Lockdown. These measures are to be in place until at least February half-term.

From tomorrow, face-to-face teaching and learning will be for vulnerable pupils and the children of key worker families only.

Most pupils will be taught remotely, using the planning and resources published on the school website, similar to our provision during the national Lockdown in March.

Due to the short notice of this announcement, if your child attended school during last year's Lockdown, as part of a key worker family or vulnerable group, we will assume that their status remains the same, unless you inform us otherwise.

We will contact our Reception families separately, to ascertain the numbers of pupils who will be attending school.

From tomorrow, we ask that all parents, carers and visitors wear face coverings when on-site, to help protect our school community against this virulent new strain of coronavirus.

Tomorrow, we will provide more details and information about our remote and face-to-face provision, our updated risk assessment and what other support we can offer families in the coming days and weeks.

The new Lockdown and partial school closure will cause many families increased anxiety and upheaval during an already very stressful time and we will do our best to support all families throughout this period.

Stay safe and look after yourselves.

Yours faithfully,

Ms. A Lippa
